

Critique Chosen:

We think the most helpful and insightful aspect of the critique is the correction regarding the direction of the <<Extend>> relationship arrow in 2A

As it was something that catches a fundamental error in our diagram. It was helpful as it led us to realise that the use case diagram is not recording the flow and time, but it is actually meant to record the structural dependency. It would have been a fatal mistake if it did not catch it for us and we only realise it after.